An opportunity for students and staff to share research and experiences

Do you have some research or coursework that you would like to share with colleagues?

Do you have a research idea that you would like to discuss?

Why not talk about how your learning experiences have changed your practice?

Make the most of this opportunity to share your research and experiences with students and staff across the department in a supportive and stimulating environment.

Practise your presenting skills by giving a 20 minute presentation followed by a 10 minute discussion with colleagues. Share your knowledge and experiences.
